| PROBLEM STATEMENT                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| Employees currently request software installations through emails or manual communication. The process lacks a standardized request mechanism and automated approval and fulfilment workflow, resulting in delays, limited visibility, inconsistent handling, and potential software compliance issues. |

|                                                                                                                                                                     |

| ROOT CAUSE                                                                                                                                                   |
| No standardized Service Catalog item; manual approval communication; no automated assignment and fulfilment routing; limited centralized tracking and auditability. |

|                                                                                                                                                                             |

| IMPACT                                                                                                                                                               |
| Longer waiting times for employees; additional manual coordination for IT teams; unclear request ownership and status; inconsistent approvals and possible compliance gaps. |

| HOW MIGHT WE?                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                     |
| How might we automate the software installation request process in ServiceNow so that employees can submit standardized requests, approvers can review them efficiently, and IT teams can fulfil approved requests with clear tracking, notifications, and auditability? |

|                                                                                                                                                                                            |
